

Founded in 1994

The British & Irish Association for Practical Theology

Teachers and practitioners in Practical Theology have diverse interests but find a shared home in BIAPT where they benefit from expanding networks and intellectual stimulus and support.

The Association aims to:

- advance teaching, learning and research in pastoral studies and practical theology ,
- promote contact and exchange between the various contexts of practical theology, education and training ,
- organize events and consultations appropriate to the above ,
- foster international links and activities, especially in collaboration with the International Academy of Practical Theology, and
- encourage interchange between the worlds of practical theology, pastoral care and counseling, and local and national faith communities.

Central to BIAPT is the annual conference in July held around the U.K. and the Republic of Ireland. It is here that seasoned and new practical theologians from universities, colleges, training centres, hospitals and parish ministry meet in a vibrant exchange through presenting papers and engaging with guest speakers.

New members are always welcome, especially from amongst those new to the discipline as postgraduate students or educators (an application form is overleaf).
