FROM PRACTICE TO POLICY: THEOLOGICAL REFLECTION ON BEING A CHAPLAIN

A one day practitioners' workshop for people involved in chaplaincy

SATURDAY 21st APRIL 2012: 10.00 – 16.00
Ripon College Cuddesdon, Oxford OX44 9EX

Speakers include:

Rev. Dr. Malcolm Brown

Director of Mission and Public Affairs for the Archbishops' Council of the Church of England

Rev. Victoria Slater

Research and Development Officer, OxCEPT

Rev. Dr. Margaret Whipp

Chair of BIAPT and Lecturer in Pastoral Theology at Ripon College Cuddesdon

Think of a life context – work, health, education, elderly care, sport, criminal justice - and it is likely that there will be a chaplain involved.

Chaplaincy roles and the interest of the churches in chaplaincy have been growing over the past twenty years and yet there is little opportunity for people engaged in this ministry to come together to reflect on their practice and on what it means in relation to the mission and ministry of the church.

This day offers space for chaplains of all kinds to come together to reflect on the practice of chaplaincy both practically and theologically and to consider its significance as part of the church's ministry today.

Cost: £25 (waged), £10 (unwaged) to include lunch and refreshments
To book: complete the attached form or contact Keith Glenny 01865 877417
